

I am opposed to any attempt by congress or others to try to limit the ability of a subscriber based service, such as XM satellite radio, to provide useful and timely information to its subscribers, such as traffic reports. There is no reason I, or any other subscriber, should have to stop listening to XM, and switch to an AM or FM station to get that info. It is provided as a service, in either instance, to the listeners. It is public information, and does not belong to any one group, over the other. This is simply an attempt, by the over-the-air broadcasters, to stifle competition that they are receiving from satellite radio providers.

Thank you.
